OPENING THE LAYTON PICTURE GALLERY. MILWAUKEE, April 5 .- The Layton Art Gallery, presented to the city of Milwaukee by Frederick Layton, was thrown open to the public to-day. The building and grounds represent an investment of about $100,000. To this Mr. Layton added pictures valued at about $50,000, and to-day he drew a check for $100,000 as an endowment fund for the temple. Other prominent citizens have contributed liberally in the shape of valuable pictures and altogether the gallery will compare favorably with any institution of its kind in the country.

APPARENTLY A QUESTION OF PRINCIPLE. The trustees of the Eighwen's Street Methodist Epis-copal Church met last evening at the pariors of the church, and discussed the matters at Issue in regard to the action of the recent conference in the appointment of their pastor. No definite plan of action has been formed, and none of the trustees have yet resigned. There is much bitternéss of feeling at the disregard with which the wishes of the church were regarded, but there is no personal dislike toward the prownt pastor, Mr. North. On the contrary, the sentiments on both sides are ex-

THE LOCAL DEMOCRATS WIN. VOTING TO HOLD THE STATE CONVENTION HERE

ON MAY 15-A VICTORY FOR CLEVELAND. The Democratic State Convention for the election of delegates to the National Convention will be held in this city on Tuesday, May 15. This was decided by the State Committee at its meeting here yesterday. The time for holding the meeting was practically the choice of all the members, but the place was not. and under the leadership of Judge Muller. John O'Brien, Assemblyman Sheehan and others fought hard to get it there, but their efforts were in vain. The Administration was too strong and it only required one formal ballot to show it.

All of the thirty-four Congressional districts were represented at the committee meeting yesterday at the Hoffman House and, except in three instances, by the regular members from them. Ex-Mayor Grace, who is in Europe, had Police Justice Power for his proxy. F. A. Deffendorf appeared for Levi J. Delano, of the XXXth District, and Register Murtha spoke for

In addition to these there was a host of local leaders and prominent party men, including Hugh McLaughlin, of Brooklyn; Commissioner Brennan, Attorney-Gen-eral Tabor, ex-Senator Cullen, Aqueduct Commissioner Ridgway, Police Justice Welde, Subway Commissioner Gibbons, Roswell P. Flower, and the President's former robust partner, Mr. Bissell, who came here with United States District Attorney Daniel N. Lockwood, of Buffalo, ostensibly to urge the claims of that city as the place for the convention.

The Buffalo business men, Mr. Bissell said, had subscribed $3,000 or $4,000 to defray the expenses of both the Republican and Democratic conventions, but his arguments had little weight with the committee.

The County Democracy and Tammany members the other friends of the President held a caucus before the meeting and decided that New-York would be the safest place to hold the convention and this practically settled the question. AN EASY VICTORY FOR THE CLEVELAND MEN.

Chairman Murphy was ill with neuralgia, and the neeting had to be held in his rooms, which were meeting had to be need in his rooms, which were crowded to suffocation. After the roll call the claims of Albany were presented by the proprietors of the Delayan House, and those of Buffalo by Mr. Fleming, It was decided to take an informal bailot. The Kings County men voted together again for Albany and so did several other members, but the New-York to did several other members, but the New-York to 13 for Albany. The date was fixed on one ballot. Then D. Cady Herrick arose and read the call for the convention. The call, as adopted, requests the Democratic electors to choose three delegates from each Assembly District to the convention, when four delegates at large and their alternates and two delegates and alternates from each Congressional District will be chosen to go to the National Convention in St. Louis. Suitable resolutions in regard to the death of William E. Smith and ex-Lieutenant-Governor Dorsheimer were passed and the committee adjourned.

Color was given to it also by a statement by Mr. Murtha, which was in effect that while McKane was out he could name his successor. This remark was in such contrast with Mr. Mortha's previous utierances as to inspire the bejief that if peace had been declared it was on McKane's terms. McKane himself preserved stlenge on this point.

THRONGS AT THE HOMEOPATHIC PAIR. The storm of last evening had the effect of thinning mewhat the crowd of visitors to the Homoeopathic Free oxpital Fair, but the attendance was nevertheless large, and the receipts from sales and from the voting have as-sumed large proportions. After the resolutions presented at the last meeting condemning all efforts to "side-track the party or make it the cak's-paw of either the Republicans or Democrats" had been approved, a long and stormy discussion took place over the adoption and amending of the new constitution. Section No. 2 of Article No. 1. which requires members of the United Labor party sever all connection with other parties was changed so as to admit " members of clubs for propaganda."

Article No. 6, which prohibits all "dickering with Republicans and Democrats, or any other party," was the chief bone of contention. The words "er any other party" were stricken out. The meeting broke up at midnight as they all whispered to one another, "the

NATIONAL GUARDSMEN ON THE STAGE. A CLEVER TRAVESTY ON "THE TAMING OF THE SHREW" GIVEN FOR CHARITY'S SAKE.

A gentleman of ancient Padua strummed the banjo last night in the Metropolitan Opera House before one of the set brilliant audiences that ever filled it. He began and ded his selection with "Johnny, get your gun." He was recalled. Lots of other queer things happened, but as was recalled. Lots of other queer things happened, but as the play was a travesty they were all excusoble and funny, very, very funny. "Katharine," the plece was named by its author, John Kendrick Bangs, in order that it might not be confounded with "The Taming of the Shrew," on the general lines of which it was modelled. The presauthe general lines of which it was modelled. The presention was hardly necessary, but poor Shahespeare's shades, to which the drama is "respectfully dedicated," have been so vexed of late by the Bacobian controversy that they would probably have arisen and haunted last picht's performance had there been another claimant in the field for even the title of one of their productions.

The travesty was acted under the auspices of Company I, 7th Regiment, N. Y. S. N. G., by the Dramatic Club of that company, for the endowment of militiamen's beds in the Hahnemann Hospital—a cause good enough to be ample apology for even a bad performance. But the 7th Regiment boys have no reason to feel apologetic over The burlesque is well-written, and its presentation was marked by much merit. The cast was as

There is a disagreement among the County Democracy aders about the removal of the 6th District Court from Eighteenth-at and Fourth-ave, to the Blossom Club the neighborhood of New-York, but such orders have now pending before the Sinking Fund Commission threatens to develop into a fight. The Court's room is now over a stable, and its condition is described by those years, is anxious to take the court there, and offers to furnish it with proper quarters for four years at $2,500 for the first year and -63,500 for the three remaining years. Mr. Kearney has succeeded in enlisting the Con iller and Alderman Divver in favor of his plan, but the Mayor opposes it because he thinks the rental is too Many residents of the neighborhood are opposed to having the court in their neighborhood, and the Mayor is in sympathy with them. The chief feature of the April meeting of the Local Woman Suffrage League, held last night at No. 4 Lexington-ave., was a paper by Mrs. Zadel Barnes Gustafson, of London, who dwelt upon the intimate relation between woman suffrage and prohibition. This paper was read at the International Council in Washington last week. Mrs. Blake, the prosident of the league, then read resolutions, which were carried, consuring Senators Ives. Arneld and Deane for changing their vote recently upon the Municipal Woman Suffrage bill. Dr. Gunn then spoke, opposing Mrs. Gustafson's prohibition views, and remarks were made also by Mrs. Gunn, Mrs. L. M. Rankine, M. #### THE SKELETON AT THE TRIAL.

A GREWSOME WAY TO ILLUSTRATE TESTIMONY -WHAT KILLED FARRISH?

Deputy Assistant District-Attorney Dawson created a stir among the spectators at the trial of Patrick F. Cleary and James McHugh before Judge Cowing yesterday, by drawing from a satchel an old skeleton, the bones of which rattled grewsomely as he used it to illustrate a point in the testimony. Cleary and McHugh are on trial on a charge of mansiaughter, by injuring George Farrish, a patient at the Ward's Island Insane Asylum, and causing his death. Dr. Hathaway, one of the Asylum physicians, testified to the death of Farrish. He said that he had found two of the patient's ribs broken. It was at this point that Colonel Dawson took the skeleton from its place of concealment and held it up before the witness.

'Is that Furrish's skeleton ?" asked W. F. Howe, unsel for the prisoner. "If it is not, I object to it."
Colonel Dawson replied: "It is not Farrish's sceleton I only use it to illustrate some of the details of this re-

The skeleton was allowed a pince beside Stenographer Anderson's note-book. The witness pointed out the ribs which corresponded to those which were broken. Dr. Hathaway believed, however, that Farrish had died of exhaustion from general parests. He testined that other patients had attacked Farrish and sometimes inflicted innries. Deputy-Coroner Jenkins, who made the autopsy on Farrish's body when it was exhumed at Evergreen Cemetery, testified that he found the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth ribs on the right side and the fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth ribs on the left side broken. The cartilage in the neck was also broken.

Dr. Jenkins could not determine from the autopsy the cause of Farrish's death. Dr. Wallace corroborated Dr. Jenkins. Dr. Douglass, who attended Farrish on Ward's Island, testified that he was suffering from softening of the brain when he was admitted to the asylum. Farrish was violent on the day on which he died, and the physician was unable to restrain him. The case was not finished yesterday.

The thought of clothes is uppermost in many minds at this season, and those who look for trustworthy goods and at the same time for moderate prices may need to steer carefully between high-priced tailors on the one hand and cheap but untrustworthy firms on the other. Devlin & Co., at Broadway and Warren-et., promise to solve this difficulty for their customers to the best of their ability.
They declare their objects to be first to sell the best goods that can be produced and second to offer them at the lowest possible prices consistent with quality and allowing for a reasonable profit. ## LITTLE RHODY IN LINE AGAIN.

SECURE FOR NEXT FALL, NOW. From The New-York Mail and Express.

The Republicans of Rhode Island did nobly yesteday.

This result destroys whatever possibility may have been supposed to exist of a Democraticity majority in Knode Island next fall, and secures the election of a Republican United States Sensior.

From The Brooklyn Standard-Union. The Phode Island Republicans have furnished an admirable example to their brinken throughout the Union. One year of Democratic rule in that State has wearied the people, just as three years of Democratic National Administration has prepared the citizens of this Republic for restoration of Republicanism to Pederal control.

DISGUSTED WITH DEMOCRATIC RULE.

SHE WANTS NO FREE TRADE IN HERS. From The New-Haven Palladium. Since then the Problettlemsts have—some of them-ained that jumping from the frying pan into the re is not good political strategy. And the Adminis-ation has come out flat footed against protection. The result is a change in little Rhody's attitude.

GOVERNOR DORRS'S RARE FORESIGHT. From The Boston Glabe (Dem.) This is a day of fasting, humilation and prayer; and it is a day in which tears might well be saied for Little Rhody's apostacy. She put her hand to the plough of reform and then turned back.

NATURALLY REPUBLICAN, YOU KNOW. From The Springfield Republican (Mugwump). Our anticipations with regard to the Rhode Island election have been verified. The Republicans have carried the day, as might have been looked for by any one familiar with the past of politics there. Most of the correspondents writing from the scene of conflict betrayed the want of a background.

NO THANKS TO YOU, HOWEVER. From The Providence Journal (Mugwump). The general result is satisfactory. Rhode Island naturally Republican, and the Republican party in a best estate represents the better intelligence and ill-governing capacity of the voting population.

A CONDEMNATION OF THE PRESIDENT. From The Albany Journal.

From The Albany Journal.

It (last year's verdicts was an emphatic indorsement of President Cleveland's wanderful Administration, (according to the Democrats at that time,) and another proof of its unbounded popularity with the people. Nothing that Republican news; appers could say would avail to stop or even to check the overflowing torrent of Democratic gush over the "great victory" in Rhode Island a year ago, and the senseless victory in Rhode Island a year ago, and the senseless clatter made by the "unterrified" had to be endured. But if the election of last year was an approval and indorservent of, President Cleveland's Administration up to that time, what shall be said of yesterday's result? What can be said, in fact, except that the President s more recent utterances have disgusted and alarmed the filends of protection to American labs; and industries, and shown them the necessity of sinking all minor differences in face of the great danger confronting them? last cor, and l'a higher than on Wednesday.

DEATH OF JACOB SHARP.

HIS FAITHFUL WIFE AT HIS BEDSIDE.

HIS SYSTEM UNABLE TO STAND THE SEVERE STRAIN

TO WEICH IT HAS BEEN SUBMITTED.

Jacob Sharp died at his home, No. 354 West Twenty-third-st., at 9:20 p. m. yesterday. It was the inevitable end which his physician had predicted, and which was indicated in THE TRIBune yesterday. The final struggle was a distressing one for the members of the family who witnessed it, for death came as the sequence to a violent fit of coughing and vomiting. Heart disease and heart sickness, diabetes and the dread pneumonia had done their combined work against which Mr. Sharp's weakened vitality and his will made valueless through delirium no longer availed

When the final moment came Mrs. Sharp, his aged and ever-faithful wife, was at his side, and his two daughters, Mrs. Stevens and Mrs. Selmes, were with him. Mr. Selmes, his son-in-law, who were with him. Mr. Selmes, his son-in-law, who had watched a good part of the previous night, and who had thrown bimself down for a short rest, was hastily summoned by George Sharp, the grandson, and the two stood by with the rest of his family helpless to aid the dying man. Dr. Alfred L. Loomis arrived at 9:30 p. m. and simply announced that Mr. Sharp was dead. Mrs. Sharp was led from the room overwhelmed with grief. The daughters bore the final scene more calmily. Mr. Sharp had been sinking all day. He did not regain consciousness and had not recognized even his wife since late Monday night.

Dr. Loomis was hastily summoned at 3 a. m. his wife since late Monday night.

Dr. Loomis was hastily summoned at 3 a. m. yesterday, as Mr. Sharp's family thought that death was about to come to the relief of the sufferer. A violent fit of coughing and vomiting death was about to come to the relef of the sufferer. A violent fit of coughing and vomiting led the watchers to think that the final moment had come. Dr. Loomis remained about an hour, and the patient became easier. Dr. Loomis told the family then that Mr. Sharp might possibly live through the day, but that he could not hold out for another night. At 11 a. m. the physician called again and found that Mr. Sharp had grown perceptibly weaker since the early morning.

To the account of Mr. Sharp's life and of his final illness, as published in The Treatne yesterday, there is little to be added now. Mr. Sharp was supposed to be worth several million dollars. Besides the house in which he died the principal real property now known to have belonged to him is the farm near Rome, N. Y., consisting of 640 acres. It was Mr. Sharp's pride; it was well stocked, supplied with the most improved arricultural implements and well fenced. Mrs. Sharp, her daughters, Mrs. Stevens, of Rome, Mrs. Sharp's son, who died some years ago, survive him. The funeral arrangements will be announced to-day.
